IP Surveillance Camera Risk Assessment

Many enterprises are employing cameras and access control to better manage operations, improve safety, and secure their premises:

- Monitoring and managing shipping and receiving
- Ensuring employee safety, managing behavior, and time checking
- Maintaining awareness of and controlling employee access
- Monitoring doors, parking areas, storage facilities

Detect important events such as motion, open doors, a broken window, or attempted access after hours. A triggered alarm can be configured with a custom response that can include notifications to your staff or send a dispatch to the proper authorities.

Get a Detailed Security Assessment for Your Business

Let our professionals help you prevent security breaches before they happen. They can help you identify your present physical security strengths and weaknesses. This includes a site visit and discussion of your goals, concerns, and budget. These assessments give you a chance to learn more about today's innovative camera technologies, like IP-camera hosting and artificial intelligence.

Expertise in Security

John Bush and Billy Meador are former Orland Park and Chicago police officers. They are familiar with video surveillance and evidence tracking and can help you optimize and customize a security system for your needs.
